

PILUM ATTACK SPEEDER SQUADRON 70 POINTS

Fast Attack

The Pilum class Attack Speeder was used by the Legiones Astartes as a fast skirmishing vehicle with great success during the Great Crusade. It features the same anti-gravitic plating as its smaller cousin, the common Land Speeder, but in an up scaled version with additional lifting capabilities. An unexpected but welcome side effect of this is a repelling back wash of gravitic energy that repulses all but the most determined attackers that dare to get too close to the vehicle.

Utilised in wide flanking maneuvers, the Pilum is favoured most by the Legiones, that emphasise speed and mobility over brute strength and staying power and so it is no wonder that the majority of these vehicles can be found in the armouries of the Raven Guard and White Scars.
